

Matthew McConaughey.

1 Feature Stories

2 Spotlight

3 Editorials

4 Horoscopes

Bishop Seabury Academy

1 April 2021

Vol. □□ Issue □

Gollier Holds Students Hostage

By Katie Eckert

Last Friday, Headmaster Don Schawang headed an investigative team working to locate thirty students that were present for their 8th hour classes but disappeared immediately after. The investigation found that at least seven of them had been looking dumbfounded at Mr. Gollier earlier in the week as he referenced a movie older than their parents' marriage. So, with no other leads to follow, they made their way to room 201. What they found shocked them.

There, chained together as they were forced to watch movies such as "Ferris Bueller's Day Off" (1986) and "Animal House" (1978), were the missing students. At the end of each movie, Gollier would dangle the key to their bonds in front of them, and whoever got a piece of trivia right would be released. All 30 of them were still there.

Though he was quickly taken into custody, Gollier was given a chance to explain himself: "They didn't get my references," he says, "so they didn't get to go home."

Tornado Transports Knudson to Land of Oz

By Marie Brockhoff

The storm that evaporated faculty member Arnie Knudson's wife in February is back again, as it pummeled the vast plains of North Carolina last Tuesday. The tornado tragically whirled Knudson away to the Land of Oz. "I crashed down, and there was the yellow brick road," he says. "I already knew I wasn't in Kansas anymore, but that's a whole other level."

Since his crash landing, Knudson has been oligarchically elected as Wizard in Chief. "Apparently the last dude floated away in a hot air balloon," he says, "and I'm a trillionaire in Monopoly money. So Emerald City BABYYY!!"

Knudson feels very much at home.

"There's this scarecrow dude who has no brain, so he's basically the same as a Seabury Junior," he says. "Plus I have a flying monkey army to hunt down homework, how rad is that!" The Great and Powerful Wizard Knudson continues to teach via Zoom using his whiteboard, which the tornado conveniently plunked down on top of a Munchkin.

Reports Show Agony Production Up 30%

By Lyle Griggs

BISHOP SEABURY ACADEMY, APRIL 1, 2021: An annual economic summary released Thursday found that production of Seabury's top export, agony, was up 30% in 2020 despite the pandemic's adverse effect on most manufacturing.

Members of the Seabury community received the report with mixed emotions. "Good," said Seabury seventh grader Don Cheadle.

"Aaaaargh," howled the mailman slowly being devoured by ferrets in Mr. Neuteboom's broom closet.

In less encouraging news, the report found that production of Seabury's second biggest export, eggs, was down 100%. Economists hope that the overproduction of agony, paired with modest production volume increases in minor exports like anguish, gloom, pain, and woe can make up for those shortfalls in 2021.

Charlie "El Charlo" Maples is apprehended by FBI agents following the raid. He expects to face counts of conspiracy, fraud, embezzlement, illegal smuggling and tax fraud in court.

Charlie "El Charlo" Maples Apprehended

By Lyle Griggs

LAWRENCE, KS — Just before five a.m. on Saturday, hundreds of soldiers and police officers descended on the subterranean regions of Seabury, following a tip as to the whereabouts of notorious and elusive Coca-Cola kingpin Charlie "El Charlo" Maples. Maples, thought to be the leader of a multinational soda-smuggling ring known as Middle School 13, commonly abbreviated to MS-13, had been hiding out in the school's basement for over a week, following an unsuccessful attempt to leave the country over spring break. Although Maples is headed for a maximum-security prison, this isn't his first jaunt in the joint; in 2019, he got out of a high-security facility after he spelled so many words correctly that hundreds of guards and inmates passed out. Authorities hope to neutralize the Maples threat more effectively this time, but only time will tell whether the notoriously slippery convict can be imprisoned for very long.

In other news, students in Mrs. Schrader's ninth grade biology class were shocked this week when a torrent of live ferrets began pouring from a broken ceiling tile. "They were everywhere," says freshman Evan Ho, who was carried nearly to Bob Billings Pkwy by the coursing stampede of mustelids. "It was like Worlds of Fun, but instead of roller coasters they were ferrets, and I was not having fun until the end, when the ferrets surged into an apartment building at the Jayhawk Club and devoured Tom Fritzel."

In still other news, investigators reported Friday that Seabury had accumulated enough enriched uranium to build a nuclear warhead.

Mr. Young Wins “The Voice”

By Jonah Kim

Seabury faculty member Ron Young recently rose to stardom after his historic run on NBC's hit singing competition The Voice. Young serenaded the country in the final round of the show with his tear-jerking rendition of Simon and Garfunkel's "The Sounds of Silence." Young was the first performer, but after hearing his performance, his competitors forfeited the competition on the spot.

"It was totally not fair!" says Young's rival on the show, Jackie Chan. "I played the monkey in Kung Fu Panda! I deserve his spot!" After Young's performance, security had to tackle Chan as he attacked him with a microphone. Chan's agent has refused to provide further comments from Chan's cell in an undisclosed high security prison.

"After the grudge match karaoke, I realized I had a real talent for singing and wanted to share it with the world," says Young. And share he did, with this season of The Voice racking in the most viewers in the US than any televised program ever. Young's debut album, $a^2+b^2=c^2$, has already surpassed Michael Jackson's Thriller for the highest grossing album of all time within two weeks of its release. Young has already scheduled his first album tour where he will perform in various cities throughout Western Kansas and Portland, Maine.

"Without a doubt, we all knew Ron would be the winner the moment he touched this stage. The audience and us judges cried through all of his touching performances," says The Voice judge Blake Shelton. "He may very well be the greatest musical talent to not only be on this show, but to grace this earth. We are all lucky to have heard this man's beautiful voice."

Want more stories? Check these out online!

- Disturbing report finds just 30% of Seabury Students can place the U.S. on a map, juggle, ride a unicycle simultaneously
- Betsy takes revenge on students not signing out: uses HAARP liberal weather machine to exact her vengeance
- Matt Patterson Yells
- Choir musical composition challenge results in five hour long death metal screaming match
- Fahrenheit 4120: Pulsinelli Renounces English, Sets Fire to Lawrence Public Library
- Volcano! Metamorphic rock deposits found in an exceptionally sulfuric Lost and Found haul
- Titanic whirlpool opens in gym floor, sucks down girls basketball teams in a Minor Malfunction

bit.ly/BSAChronicle

Spotlight: KC Wolf

Chiefs mascot prowls the halls

By Matthew Petillo

~~Wandering around the halls, you might not know he's there. But he's there.~~

KC Wolf is a 32nd grader who is known around the school for his wide hips, abysmal driving skills, and sweet tooth. You've probably seen him around, seeing as he is 8'11" -- he's not easy to miss. His often flamboyant mask is made not from cloth, but from the skin of Who Dey. One often sees him delivering baked goods, which he bakes himself at Arrowhead Stadium. Along with his bubbly personality, this all makes it hard to miss KC Wolf.

KC Wolf transferred to Seabury from Kansas City Academy in 1893. When asked about his favorite part of the school, he replied, "This may seem weird, but I love the basement to study in. It's so quiet, so I'm never disturbed when I have to study for one of 6000 tests I have to take. The sounds of the portal in the corner are comforting, and I only hear screaming coming from there every once in a while."

KC Wolf is a huge fan of not just football, but also of baseball and soccer. He gushes about his love for sports: "I love our local teams, and they love me!" When asked about other sports teams in Kansas City, such as basketball, he replied, "what?"

Make sure to say "hi?" to him in the halls! He might give you a cookie or he might exterminate you.

1st Grader Matthew McConaughy: "All right all right all right"

Senior Catharine Richards: "no no no no no no no"

Faculty Michael Pulsinelli: "I only talk football with him because I'm scared of him. Do I seem like a football guy?"

When Does Life Begin?

Editor question if 6th graders are people

By Lyle Griggs

In my ethics class, we are debating a complex and thorny question: when does personhood begin, and how might that affect our legal and ethical thinking about life? Due to metaphysical and scientific disagreement, we've come no closer to a clear answer than we were at the beginning of the unit. I, however, have reached my own conclusions.

My answer, informed by deep philosophical thinking and interviews with experts, is that nobody who has not reached the seventh grade can reasonably be called a person.

First, mere observation leads us to conclude that sixth graders are not aware or conscious enough to be people. Once, when I was patrolling the sixth grade hallway in search of social-distancing violations, I attempted to separate a dense clump of twelve year olds. One looked up at me and said, "Who are you?" and then went right back to spreading disease. This is not behavior that people would display; sixth graders are clearly something else.

"Indubitably, sixth graders are not people," says local behavioral psychologist, philosopher, plague doctor, spearfisherman, ski instructor, boomerangist, classical guitar virtuoso, forklift driver and faculty member Eric Nelson. I agree with the experts on this one; personhood begins after the sixth grade.

What Teachers Did Over Break

By Sage McHenry

While the students were relaxing, what were the faculty members of Seabury up to over spring break?

"The other day I learned about this radical Guamanian crepe suzette recipe," says faculty member Eric Nelson. He spent the break binge watching all of "The Great British Baking Show" and practicing his flower arrangement skills.

Faculty member Sara Asher accomplished her life long dream of opening an underground rhinoceros fighting ring in Greenland. "When trying to decide on a location for my 'new business,' Greenland was the first place that came to mind! Bright, sunny, isolated, far away from civilization," says Asher, chuckling.

Faculty member Sonja Czarnecki also sought out new terrain by booking a one way ticket to Las Vegas, Nevada to "blow off some steam," says Czarnecki. "I managed to blow all of my kids' college funds, break a slot machine and get kicked out of Caesar's Palace all in one night!"

Faculty member Brian Rios traveled to a monastery and took a vow of silence as part of his journey of becoming a monk. ".....," says Rios.

When asked what they thought of Rios's new undertaking, "I wish," the entire student body said.

Stats

Will You Go to Prom with Me?

■ Yes ■ No

Photos of the Issue

gluteus maximus L

ORIGIN: Gluteal surface of ilium, lumbar fascia, sacrum, sacrotuberous ligament

INSERTION: Gluteal tuberosity of the femur, iliotibial tract

NERVE: inferior gluteal nerve (L5, S1, S2 nerve roots)

ACTIONS: external rotation and extension of the hip joint, supports the extended knee through the iliotibial tract, chief antigravity muscle in sitting

Mr. Knudson parades down the Yellow Brick road in Oz with his new Calculus students.

gluteus maximus L

☒oroscopes

Aquarius

Aquarius (January 20-February 18):
Gollier's unsolicited "960 hours left in school!" Messages are the backbone of student morale.

Pisces

Pisces (February 19-March 20):
Buy Leo's NFT and then sue them for 1000 Ether. What could go wrong?

Aries

Aries (March 21-April 19):
Hwash! Benchel veirdegarden hwan veir Chartel.

Taurus

Taurus (April 20-May 20):
In Statement, Faculty Member Laura Porter Denies Role in Suez Canal Obstruction.

Gemini

Gemini (May 21-June 20):
Did you know that www.zillow.com is actually an alternate universe? I didn't!

Cancer

Cancer (June 21-July 22):
Sell your belongings and become impoverished; hoard your belongings and be bestowed with the milk water bottle

Leo

Leo (July 23-August 22):
Make an NFT of the Seabury logo and sell it for 1000 Ether. Then don't pay royalties. You'll be perfectly fine!

Virgo

Virgo (August 23-September 22):
School resumes August 31. Resistance is futile. You will be educated.

Libra

Libra (September 23-October 22):
Appease the giant squid in the Seabury pond with a SICK rendition of "Violin Concerto in G Minor no. 2 Op. 3579" by Smashing Pumpkins

Scorpio

Scorpio (October 23-November 21):
One time, I dived into "cinnamon applesauce." Turned out, it was photoshopped. I got a mouthful of Shredded Cheese and Silly String. Who knew! Bon appetit! вкусна храна!

Sagittarius

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21):
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dQw4w9WgXcQ>

Capricorn

Capricorn (Dec. 22-January 19):
don't be capricious, be suspicious, like Russian War Boat 504

COPY CO

MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER

540 FIRESIDE CT • LAWRENCE, KS
785-832-2679 • 785-832-0505 FAX
lawrence@copycousa.com
www.copycousa.com

Eric Nelson & Co.

Logistics & Consulting, LLC

"It'll get done, somehow."

Founder & CEO Eric Nelson guarantees we'll get whatever that thing you're doing is rolling! True story!

Book an appointment by calling 1800-555-GNARLY or by visiting our headquarters in Guam

LADY ASHER'S HITMAN SERVICE

"No questions asked"

- Lady Asher, CEO

Don't just take it from us!

4.5/5 - Killing Monthly

8/10 - Murder Magazine

9/10 - Hitman's Digest

The Chronicle

A Seabury Publication

Colin Farha

Lyle Griggs

Cameren Green

Cadence Cheng

Editor in Chief

Copy Editor

Design Editor

Photo Editor

Ian Blake

Marie Brockhoff

Katie Eckert

Lear Eicher

Gisele French

Helena Gutierrez-Gibbs

Darby Harris

Campbell Helling

Truman Hill

Evan Ho

Anna Johnson

Tony Jung

Enzo Karam

Jonah Kim

Andrew Lang

Evan McHenry

Sage McHenry

Hannah Motsinger

Audrey Nguyen-Hoang

Alden Parker-Timms

Edie Patterson

Jaxon Patterson

Matthew Petillo

Isabelle Pro

Catharine Richards

Will Richards

Clara Shin

Luke Velte

Joshua Williams

Cesslie Winslow